DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-22 and 40, drawn to a method of promoting auto-induction of transcription of cloned DNA in cultures of bacterial cells grown batchwise, classified in class 435, subclass 69.1.
- II. Claims 23- 29, drawn to a method for improving production of a selenomethionine-containing protein in a bacterial cell, comprising culturing bacterial cell in a culture medium containing vitamin B12, classified in class 435 subclass 69.1.
- III. Claims 30- 39, drawn to a method for suppressing transcription of cloned DNA in bacterial cells grown batchwise, comprising providing a culture medium comprising a carbon source whose uptake and metabolism suppresses induction of transcription from said promoter, classified in class 435, subclass 69.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of Groups I-III are biologically and functionally different and distinct from each other and thus one does not render the other obvious. The methods of Groups I-III comprise steps which are not required for or present in the methods of the other groups: providing culture medium comprising an inducer that causes induction of transcription from a promoter in bacterial cells (Group I); culturing a bacterial cell which produces a selenomethionine- containing protein in a culture medium containing vitamin B12 (Group II); providing a culture medium comprising a carbon source whose uptake and metabolism by bacterial cells suppresses induction of transcription (Group III). The end result of the methods are different: auto-induction of transcription of cloned DNA in bacterial cells (Group I); producing of a selenomethionine-containing protein in a bacterial cell (Group II); bacterial cells comprising suppresses transcription of cloned DNA (Group III). Thus, the operation, function and effects of these different methods are different and distinct from each other. Therefore, the inventions of these different, distinct groups are capable of supporting separate patents.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Further more, especially in instances where the classifications are the same, the non-patent literature searches required for each of these inventions are not co-extensive, hence said searches would be burdensome. Therefore, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Nancy T. Vogel whose telephone number is (571) 272-0780. The examiner can normally be reached on 7:00 - 3:30, Monday - Friday.
